Sometimes it's just impossible to tell someone what you do. Especially if you knock things down and haul them away. There's nothing left of your work to show off!

That's when you need a slide show. Demco Incorporated is a large demolition contractor working throughout the country. They do such a great job that when they're done, you hardly know they'd been there – or anything else, for that matter!

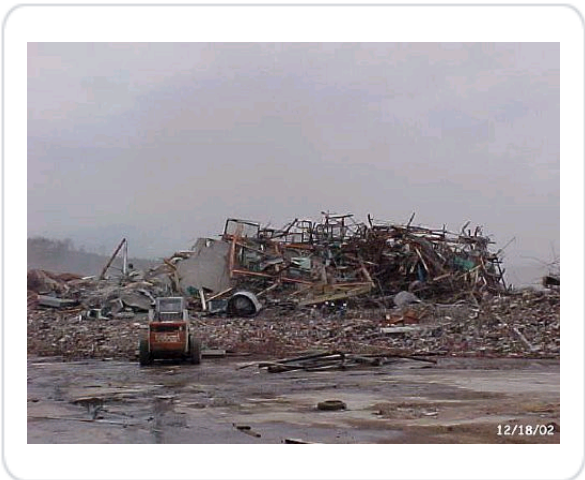

Click through the photos attached to this Portfolio™ item to gain a sense of how Demco works. Click through to their website to learn more. A new window will open so when you're done, you'll be right back here.
